THE IRISH CONSTABULARY.

London, January 3.—The Irish constabulary are henceforth to wear batons instead of bayonets.

FIGHTING BETWEEN THE DERVISHES AND EGYPTIANS.

London, January 4.—Fierce fighting has taken place between the Dervishes and Egyptian troops at Ambiggi; [Ambikol?] the Dervishes largely outnumbered the Egyptians and charged the latter repeatedly. Capt Pyne of the Dorsetshire Regiment was killed, also an Egyptian officer and forty-five men. The Dervishes lost heavily and are retreating with the Camelry in pursuit.

[Captain John Compton Pyne (passed Staff College) belonged to the 2nd Batt. Dorsetshire Regt., having received his commission as ensign on the 30th January 1878; Lieut. 2nd February 1881; Captain 27th July, 1885. Capt. Pyne served in the Afghan War in 1879 as Transport Officer on the Khyber line of communications, receiving the Afghan Medal. He appears to have been transferred to the 1st Battalion of the regiment which is now stationed in Egypt.]

London, January 6.—Regarding the fighting at Ambiggal, later details show that the Dervishes, though surprised at the outset, afterwards outmanœuvred the Egyptians, who, after a gallant fight, were forced to retreat.

IT is interesting to note that one of the leading novelties in Winter Millinery in London was designed by a Hongkong Lady, and specially manufactured to the order of Messrs W. Powell & Co.

IN the last quarter of 1892 there were 505 births in the Colony and 1,209 deaths. Amongst the British and Foreign community the births were 37 and the deaths 40, the annual birth rate being 13.98 and the death rate 15.11. Amongst the Chinese community there were 468 births and 1,169 deaths, the birth rate being 8.47 and the death rate 21.15.

OWNERS of dogs are notified in the Gazette that any dog which shall be found straying or wandering about during the day time without any owner and not wearing a collar with the name and address of the owner inscribed thereon may be destroyed; and further that any dog may be destroyed which shall be found wandering about between the hours of ten o'clock at night and gun-fire in the morning.

FROM a comparative statement published in the Gazette, it appears that the stamp revenue for 1892 was $171,076, as compared with $193,956 in the previous year, showing a falling off of $22,883. The largest decline was in transfer of shares, from $20,384 to $6,779, a difference of $13,605. The receipts from Brokers' Notes declined from $2,115 in 1891 to $62 in 1892. The probate duty shows a decline of $7,243 and the duty on bills of exchange and promissory notes a decline of $6,065. The largest increases were $2,839 mortgage duty, $2,156 for conveyance or assignment, and $1,505 for bills of lading.

THE course of the Corinthian Club race yesterday was:—from S. M. pier round a mark boat off N. W. corner of the Lyeemoon Pass, Channel Rocks, Kowloon Rock, West Mirefield buoy, White fairway buoy, leave all to port and finish from west to east. Of the three cracks—Payne, Ladybird and Dart—only the Ladybird finished, the intense cold proving too much for the enthusiasm of the yachtsmen. The Ladybird was sailed by Mr J. Hastings, who had along with him Mr H. J. Gedge and a Chinaman. All three suffered more or less from the cold, and if points could be awarded for pluck the crew certainly deserved them.

THE N.-C. Daily News states that the new Telegraph Convention between China and Russia has been definitely ratified.

A NATIVE paper gives an account of a gunpowder accident which occurred at Tientsin while the soldiers of the viceregal camps were practising target-shooting with a Krupp gun a short time ago. Through the carelessness of the gunner who neglected to have the gun properly cleaned and cool before putting in a new charge, there was an explosion which injured a number of persons.

BY the breaking of the chain attached to the apparatus for bringing up coal from one of the shafts at the Kaiping colliery, the other day, six lives were lost; the head and the lower extremities of one of the killed, strange to say, being so crushed and torn away by the unfortunate accident, that nothing could be found of the lost parts.

MR Gregory Anthony, a member of the Straits Bar, died at Penang on New Year's Day. Mr Anthony was admitted to the Bar of the Straits in December, 1876, having served his articles in the offices of Mr Berrard Rodyk and the late Mr I. S. Bond. Soon after his admission he joined Mr Van Someren, but of late he practised alone. Mr Anthony devoted himself to the criminal branch of the law and soon obtained for himself the leading practice in the Police Courts. The Penang Gazette has the following obituary notice:—Mr Anthony was highly respected and esteemed by the other members of his profession, and his comrades will long hold his memory in affectionate regard. He will also be remembered by the other members of the European community, to many of whom his genial disposition, unfailing readiness to do a kind action and kindly demeanour greatly endeared him. The natives also held him in high respect, and, were any proof required of the great esteem he was held in by the varied classes of our community, it was afforded by the numbers who attended his funeral. We must not omit to mention that a contingent of the European police volunteered to carry his coffin as a last mark of respect to one who had always shewn himself their good friend, and their kind offer was gratefully accepted. The leading members of the Bar and a couple of friends acted as pall bearers.

THE Hongkong and Shanghai Bank smoking concert took place on Saturday evening, Dec. 3, at the Bodega, St. Mary Axe. The chair was occupied by Mr Thomas Jackson, supported by Messrs. Jno. Walter, J. H. Burnett, Wm. Nicholls, Wm. S. Edwardson, and G. W. Moore. The Chairman, on rising to open the proceedings, received a splendid ovation. In a happy speech he complimented the Bank Football Club on the fact that they had with one exception, won all their matches this season, and then proceeded with the programme. An excellent concert was provided, and reflected great credit on the organisers. The efforts of Messrs. T. S. Cockburn, W. S. Blackie, Will. E. Edwards, Wm. Nicholls, Edwin Fisher, and Harry Dorien were especially praiseworthy, and each of these gentlemen received a well-merited encore. A duet, violin Mr R. O. Carey, and pianoforte Mr A. A. Hayllar, was very finely rendered and was received with great applause, as was also a spirited rendering of Macaulay's 'Battle of Naseby' by Mr A. Podmore. Only a few speeches were made, the Chairman referring with great pleasure to the good record of the football club and bidding a hearty welcome to the visitors present, for whom Mr Pittbrook, of the London and Westminster Bank, responded. The proceedings closed with cheers for Mr Jackson and the committee, which was composed of the following gentlemen—Messrs. Pratt, Gordon, Knox, Keelle, Harries, and Edwardson. Mr George Bromby, Mus. Bac., presided at the piano, and his solos and accompanying gave unqualified satisfaction.

MR A. M. Ferguson, C.M.G., senior editor and proprietor of the Ceylon Observer, died after a short illness at Alec Avenue in Kelupitiya on the night of Christmas Day. A large and representative assembly at his funeral testified to the respect and esteem in which he was held by all classes.

A MOVEMENT is on foot amongst the leading Chinese of Singapore with a view of drawing up a memorial to the Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, praying for an extension of the tenure of office as Governor of the Straits Settlements of His Excellency Sir Cecil C. Smith, C.C.M.G., which expires in September this year.

THE Shenpao states that the government branch of the Tientsin railroad has now reached Liuchow. It was formerly decided to make the terminus at Mukaoying, but it appears now a further extension will be made towards the three eastern provinces. The route for the proposed extension of the lines has been inspected by deputies sent out by the military department of that region.

THE 'Linkman' in Truth, of Dec. 15, writes:—Sir John Walsham, formerly British Minister at Pekin, who has recently been transferred to Bucharest, arrived in London on Thursday last from China. Sir John leaves almost immediately for Roumania to join in the approaching festivities connected with the marriage of the Crown Prince and Princess Marie of Edinburgh. As the marriage is to be celebrated at Sigmaringen, Sir Edward Malet, British Ambassador at Berlin, has been commanded to represent the Queen at the ceremony. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, together with every member of their family, intend assisting at the Royal marriage.

A GOVERNMENT railway official informs us, says the Shanghai Mercury, that it is the intention of the Northern Railway Administration to extend the present railway, which just now has been made only as far as Lan chow, beyond Shan Hai-kwan, or the Eastern extremity of the Great Wall, into Manchuria, and that preparations have already been begun so as to commence the extension line with the beginning of next Spring. It is the intention also of the Chinese Government to run the line though Kirin and Tsi-tsi har up to the banks of the Amoor river, or as the Chinese call it Hêh-lung-chiang i.e. 'the Black Dragon River.' In fact a survey of the whole proposed line has already been made, for a recent telegram from Tientsin reports the safe return of the surveying party to that port a few days ago.

AT the Bankruptcy Court on the 14th ult. Messrs Beyts and Craig, who were shipowners and merchants of 31, Great St Helens, also of Bombay, were brought up, under the charge of four warders from Holloway Prison, for their public examination. The bankrupts were sentenced to two years' imprisonment for defrauding the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China of a large sum of money. The debts proved at the meeting amounted to £71,047. Upon the case being called Mr Wreford, Official Receiver, stated that the accounts had not yet been filed, but that the trustee, Mr Ernest Cooper, had undertaken to assist the bankrupts in the preparation of them. Mr Hodges (Irvine, Hodges, and Borrowman) appeared on behalf of the bankrupts, and stated that they would take at least a couple of months to prepare, and the examination was adjourned to Feb. 15 next.

WE take the following from the Singapore Free Press of January 5:—Mr. H. M. Becher, of Messrs Becher, Louis & Co., has this morning received a telegram from the Penjom Pahang Gold Company, Ltd., evidently the result of their meeting of shareholders in London yesterday. The telegram ran:—'Resolution passed unanimously, voluntary winding-up.' This, as everybody knows, does not mean the failure of the Jalis Mine, but on the contrary, it being too good to lose, the parent company determined to resume it and this is part of the process. They and Becher, Louis & Co., being the largest and practically the sole creditors, it may be a model liquidation for despatch in settlement. Mr Becher leaves for Hongkong by the mail to-day, to confer with the Directors of the Penjom Mining Co., and it is expected that everything will be arranged to permit of work at the mines going on continuously.

AMONG the things 'too good to be true'—at least, just yet—is the Imperial penny postage. It was rumoured lately that this great, necessary, and inevitable reform was actually on the point of being carried out. The Government, said the report, had made up their minds upon this one piece of legislation, if upon nothing else, and as soon as Parliament opened the bitter draught of a Home Rule Bill would be sweetened with a measure to render the rate of postage uniform from end to end of the British Empire. But the too reliable rumour only lived a day. As soon as the General Post Office authorities heard of the heroic resolutions ascribed to them a feeling of horrified alarm spread through the Departments, and Mr Arnold Morley, or one of his lieutenants, lost no time in dispelling the public dream. It was notified that the thing could not be thought of. It was strenuously urged that the penny postage only 'pays' in London and the great towns, and this injured Department of State added that as soon as the penny stamp was made universal people would go about asking to have a halfpenny stamp for internal postage.

THE N.-C. Daily News of the 11th inst. says:—The Cantonese in Shanghai are very much excited over the conduct of the Chinese authorities in the City in their treatment of the manager and cook of the furniture shop in Nanking which was burnt down on the morning of 30th December. The manager and cook were arrested by the native authorities on the complaint of a mandarin who lived next door and whose house was also burnt down. The Cantonese state that the fire did not commence in the furniture shop, but in the mandarin's house and that it was the result of his attempt to hide his extravagance. The City authorities are endeavouring to force the manager and cook to state that the fire broke out on their premises, and as the prisoners refuse to say so, the cook, at least, is submitted to the most inhuman tortures. The Cantonese guild has had several meetings on the subject, and the mandarin hastily left for Nanking.

We are informed, says the Shanghai Mercury, that the Cantonese community are preparing a petition to the Viceroy of Nanking calling his attention to the barbarous tortures which are being inflicted by the Native authorities upon Ho Kwai-fan, the Cantonese furniture dealer, whose house was recently burnt on the Nanking Road, to induce him to [illegible] the fire broke out in his next door, in the premises [illegible] for the sale of rank, [illegible] and, veracity poor [illegible] sharp [illegible] as the former place knew has fallen to a depth of five inches, while at Macao it is two inches deep; and the people of these two places must be in a miserable plight.

Throughout the day peak resident have been bringing down large pieces of ice to show their friends below that the stories told of the state of matters up above are not exaggerated. The roads were so slippery that most of the residents who walk down to business by the Peak Road either took the tramcar or went round by Magazine Gap. Those who preferred this alternative felt a decided change in the temperature at the Gap, but so low down as Queen's Gardens—about 500 feet above sea level—substantial icicles had formed. We are sorry that the novel experience has not been got over without mishap. It sounds odd to have to chronicle an 'ice accident' in Hongkong, but we understand that Mr Beart, of Messrs Butterfield and Swire, was unfortunate enough to sustain a rather serious injury to his jaw this morning. While coming down the steps of his house at Mount Kellett he slipped on the ice, and falling heavily against the balustrade or the steps, cutting his face badly and injured his jaw.

A Peak resident writes:—I think you will be interested to hear what very frosty weather we are having at the Peak. I have never seen anything like it during all my residence in the South of China. The wind was freezingly cold yesterday afternoon and in several places the grass was encrusted with ice—the frozen rain hardening on the blades—while some bamboos had their twigs and leaves encased in the same crystal covering and little drops of ice hung at the points of the leaves &c.; but after the cold night it was not merely here and there that the effects of frost could be seen, for this morning I found some thin ice in two tubs, and the edge of the water butt was hardened with the same substance and the top was choked with a small icicle. The wires of the tennis netting were iced over, the edges of some of the plants was glazed over and stiff; the twigs of the fir trees were beautiful with the same icy coating, and, as the wind blew, they cracked with every motion. The steps in some places, and paths also, were slippery and the side of the house most exposed to the keen North wind was covered with a sheet of thin ice. I walked round Mount Kellett in the early morning before breakfast to enjoy the unwonted sight, and it was a new sensation for an old China resident to hear the crystals of ice crunching under one's feet in long bits of the road. These crystals were about half an inch in height at times and standing erect on the road. The sides of Mount Kellett are whitened with the slight frosting of the grass, and it reminds one of the hoar frost of England to see the whitened look of the path in front of the house.

It was very strange to see how the pigeons slipped on the roof—not being able to keep their foothold and using both wings and feet to try and walk. Some of the Peakites had a very amusing experience coming down town this morning, walking at one time through the crackling ice, then nearly slipping on its surface where it was in thin sheets on the surface of the road. It was so slippery that we had to turn back and walk down by Magazine Gap Road instead of going to the tram station; while two of our number gave up the attempt and went home again. Though Magazine Gap Road proved a better route, yet we had a cold and wet walk. The rain turned into ice on my waterproof leggings and stick, while my umbrella had a skin of ice formed over the silk, about the thickness of an envelope, and cracks at the ends of the ribs. It was a pretty sight to look up the hill sides and see the silvery frosting on the China firs. This extended as far down as Bowen Road, if not in fact a little further.

THE P. and O. Steam Navigation Co. has placed orders at Cardiff for another 100,000 tons of Welsh steam coal. Messrs G. H. Insole and Son will supply 60 000 tons, and the Powell Duffryn Company 40,000 tons.

THE Directors of the Shanghai Ice Company in submitting the accounts for the year ending 31st October, 1892, state that the year's working shows a net profit of Tls. 4,872 50, out of which it is proposed to pay a dividend at the rate of 9 per cent., amounting to Tls. 3,420, to place to Reserve Fund the sum of Tls. 250, leaving a balance of Tls. 1,202.51 to be transferred to Depreciation Account.

THE following items are from the London & China Express:—

From the report on the Health of the Navy during last year it appears that the lowest sick-rations were on the south-east coast of America (27·2 per thousand), and the highest on the China Station (52·97). There have been five deaths from cholera on the China Station.

The hired transport Malacca sailed from Portsmouth on 14th inst. with military drafts, details, and reliefs for Hong Kong and Singapore. Her military complement was made up of detachments of Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, Infantry, Army Service Corps, Medical Staff, and Ordnance Store Corps, the two largest drafts being from the 2nd Lincoln Regiment for Singapore and the 1st Shropshire Light Infantry for Hong Kong.

There is nothing more calculated to breed discontent in Her Majesty's ships afloat than the undue detention of their companies, says the Naval and Military Record, on foreign stations. The Egeria has already been three years in commission, and the men and some of the officers have been some months longer away from England, as the ship was recommissioned at Sydney. The arduous work carried out by the crews of surveying ships ought to be additional reason for relieving them promptly.

The Japanese Government seems, like some Governments nearer home, to be smitten with the evil fancy for expensive fixed defences ashore. At any rate it is providing its coast batteries with 27 cm. (10·63 in.) guns, which are furnished by the Forges et Chantiers de la Mediterranee. The last batch consisted of 12 such guns, 28 calibres in length, throwing projectiles of 475 lbs., with an initial velocity of 1,870 ft., and 12 Canet mounts, so made as to enable the guns to be fired at angles of great depression, for they are to occupy an elevated position.

It has been decided by the authorities that the Cordelia is to be repaired for another term of foreign service. This vessel was ordered home not long since on account of an accident to one of her 6-in. guns, when serving on the Australian station, she having been recommissioned at Hong Kong in Feb. 1890. She was completed at Portsmouth in 1885-86 at a cost, including incidental expenses, of £167,000, and her cost since for maintenance, repairs &c., has been another £17,000. Refitted and supplied with a new armament she will find useful employment in the training squadron, but she can scarcely be looked on again as an effective unit of the fighting navy.

Li Han-chang at Canton is said to have offered a premium for every Frenchman's head. If the statement is true, the French Government ought to lose no time in taking active and severe measures to defend their positions from renewed attacks if they do nothing else. I have the best of reasons, writes a correspondent, for stating that troops are being massed on the Tong-king frontiers; notably at Kai Hua Fu, in Yunnan. An old enemy of the French, who was once the pet of the Fêng Hua Franco-Chinese Disciplined Force near Shanghai, has just been transferred to be General of Division of the Kai Hua Chên Garrison. The same man formerly pretended to be overflowing with benevolent intentions towards the French generally, and French missionaries have reason to regret the almost unbounded confidence they placed in him in those days. He, the General, was then the especial tool of the greatest enemy they ever had: I mean Tsên Yu-Ying, and he is now the tool of Tsêh's brother.

We hear that Sir Chaloner Alabaster, H.M.'s Consul-General at Canton, has decided not to return to his post in China. He has sent in his resignation to the Foreign Office, and will retire on a pension. Sir Chaloner is the oldest present member of the China Consular Service, which he joined in 1855 as a Student Interpreter. He saw much of the stirring events in China in the late fifties and early sixties, and has served at most of the Treaty ports, particularly Canton, Amoy, Shanghai, and Hankow. He was always popular with the foreign communities, and ever upheld the treaty rights of his countrymen.

COLD WEATHER IN HONGKONG.

ICE AT THE PEAK.

For the last two days we have been experiencing a spell of cold weather which is agreed to be unprecedented in the history of the Colony. It was a novel experience to the majority of the residents to be confronted by the white-capped hills on the mainland, to find the thermometer registering a low reading, and to find all around a wintry aspect which suggested sarcastic thoughts of a tropical clime. Cold enough as it was in the lower portions of the Colony and amongst the residences on the hillside, the full severity of this unusual visitation was only realised by the Peak residents, and the cold is felt all the more from the fact that it has come so unexpectedly. The register for the past week gave the thermometer readings at the Kowloon Observatory as follow:—

	Lowest.	Highest.
Monday, 9th Jan.	59	72
Tuesday, 10th,	59	74
Wednesday, 11th,	60	63
Thursday, 12th,	61	63
Friday, 13th,	59	62
Saturday, 14th,	59	62

Overnight at Mount Kellett on Saturday evening the thermometer fell to 33, and during Sunday afternoon ice was formed, the thermometer dropping to 30 by seven o'clock. During last night or this morning the thermometer had fallen to 27. Rain fell pretty steadily throughout Sunday, while the wind was piercingly cold and few people were abroad, the churches being sparsely attended. All over the Peak district the verandahs of the houses, the tennis courts, and a portion of the roads are covered with ice heavy icicles are hanging from the eaves of the houses, and in a few cases the water pipes are frozen up. The sleet which has been drifted up at various points on the roads to a depth of over half an inch, and as the pedestrian tramps along he produces the crunching noise which reminds him of snow. There is indeed no snow yet, but the frost has fixed upon tree, shrub and grass, and as it glinters in the light gives all the appearance of a snow-covered landscape. It is probably this which has made the hills on the mainland so white. At Canton and Macao, however, there has been a heavy [illegible]

THE GREAT FIRE AT SHANGHAI.

The N.-C. Daily News of Monday, 10th inst., gives the following account of the fire which occurred on the previous evening:—

One of the most disastrous fires that have happened in Shanghai for a long time broke out last evening, resulting in the destruction of 22 houses and a large amount of property. At 5.45 p.m. the police were informed that there was a fire at No. 876, Honan Road, in front of the New Police Station which is in course of construction. Some foreign and native policemen hastened to the scene and found the fire had originated in the upper story in which was stored hundreds of rolls of matting. The Police report that they extinguished the flames with the aid of the inmates of the house, though one of the walls felt rather warm, and on the shop master being questioned he stated that he did not know how the fire occurred as he was on the ground floor at the time having his supper. At 7 p.m. the fire again broke out in the same place and being so near to the Station the alarm was immediately given and the fire brigade called out. The Deluge Co. responded with three streams and were quickly followed by the Mih-ho-loongs, the Victorias, Le Torrent Co., and the Hongkew company. No time was lost though some of the firemen were at church when the alarm was given. The flames spread with alarming rapidity, and at one time it was thought that two of the Deluge men were debarred from getting out of an alleyway, and a hole was made in a wall to let them through, but it fortunately happened that there was a small way through which they all got while their hose was pulled into the street by willing hands, just in time to prevent it being burnt by the upper floor which fell through with a crash. While the firemen were hard at work, the alarm was given that the lofty scaffolding on the opposite side of the road round the New Police Station had ignited and on looking up, this was found to be the case. Under these circumstances, the fire in the houses had to be left and attention paid to the scaffolding, and after about a quarter of an hour, there was no further danger of its burning, though at one time it was alight for some yards, but high up in the air. As soon as possible one of the streams was taken off the scaffolding and again directed on the burning houses. At this time the fire was being attacked from various quarters, no less than thirteen streams playing. It was found necessary to call out the engines, and the Deluge took up a position in Foochow Road, between Honan and Shantung Road, taking water from a hydrant, but as they had no hose, all their four nozzles being in use, the Victorias coupled on their hose and with it were able to play on the upper portion of the burning scaffolding. They had previously, with the aid of volunteers from H.M.S. Linnet, taken a line of hose high up in the New Station, but as their position was higher than the Water Tower, they could do nothing, and had to come down again. The Torrent too was called out and took water from a hydrant in Foochow Road, a little above the Central Stable, while the Victoria engine got up steam, but was soon disabled owing to her boiler tubes leaking. At 9.30 there was no more danger, but most of the brigade remained till eleven o'clock. At one time, it was necessary to extinguish the electric light on one of the circuits, as the wires passed close to the burning building there being a lamp close to the corner. This was done as a matter of safety and after half an hour or so the current was again switched on. The first two streams of the Deluge were coupled to a hydrant close to the first house that caught fire, but it soon became so hot that the men had to leave it and play on it to prevent the hose being burnt. The Mihheloongs mounted the roof of a house opposite the entrance to the Police Station and played on the flames from there. This prevented the fire spreading in that direction. The Hongkew went up the alleyway below the Mihheloongs. The Victoria and Torrent men were at the Foochow end of the fire. The fire was thus pretty well surrounded, but no less than 27 numbered houses (from 369 to 385 inclusive), some of them with valuable contents, were utterly destroyed. A gentleman living in the vicinity and Mrs Cameron at the Station kindly supplied the firemen with refreshments. The houses were only reinsured on Saturday and were foreign-owned. It is said that the damage amounts to between Tls. 150,000 and Tls. 200,000. The man whose house caught fire was insured for something over Tls. 5,000.

At 10.45 p.m. the front wall of four of the houses fell out, right across the Honan Road, and several of the firemen had a very narrow escape. The Chief Engineer and another fireman had only just passed the spot and one of the Deluge men was knocked down, while the concussion shook the Police Charge Room.

OFFICIAL ENGINEERING IN CHINA.

(N.-C. Daily News' Tientsin Correspondent.)

I am writing from a flooded district about 100 miles south-west of Tientsin. It lies on the west side of the Lower West river, so called, near its mouth. There is a marked difference in the elevation of the land on either side of this stream. On the eastern side it is higher, and occupied with orchards of apricot, peach, apple and pear trees for a distance of 10 or 12 miles. But continuing eastward toward the West river or 'Grand Canal,' the land becomes gradually depressed, and another section of frequently flooded territory is met, through which the westward overflow from the canal flows northward in seasons of excessive rain. West of the Lower West river the land is low, much of it swampy, till the Hutón river is reached. These two streams run nearly parallel at this point towards Tientsin. West of the Hutón the land is even lower than on the east side, gradually merging into the swampy or 'lake region' through which lies the water-way to Paotting Fu. Old and partially-filled river beds and overflow channels are met with quite frequently throughout the greater part of this great plain. Many of them if re-opened and deepened would be of immense value to the agricultural interests of the country in holding and carrying away excess of high water, and in affording more extensive irrigating facilities.

About ten years ago, on the pretext that the Hutón could not discharge its flood water, and to relieve another section of frequently-flooded territory south-west of this, a cross-channel was dug in a north-westerly direction to the Lower West river. It is confidently asserted that a 'bonus' was the procuring cause of this channel being dug, the falsity of which assertion it might be difficult to prove. The people protested against the digging of this channel, because the south bank of this stream would prevent their excess of water, whether from rain or river-break, from following the natural depression of the land and flowing north, and consequently they must be flooded to some extent annually. Especially did the protest against the dams, of which four were built across the old channel. To all which the official in charge replied that the dams would be removed, and that two channels would ensure freedom from floods to both sections of country. But the dams were not taken away; and so far as appears, little if any relief came to the one section, while the other section has been almost ruined by annual inundations. The official wholly ignores the fact that with the embankment on the west side of the Lower West river, on the east side of the Hutón, and on the north side of a swamp overflow stream further south, he had now by the embankment on the south side of the new channel, completely enclosed this section, which contains 48 villages having a population now of about twenty-five or thirty thousand—then much larger—in a square pen, out of which the excess of rain or flood water had no possible escape.

No representation or pleading being of any avail, the matter was carried to Peking. An imperial deputy was sent to investigate the case. He said that this condition of things ought not to exist, and he would so represent it at the capital; that the dams ought to be removed from the old channel of the Hutou, but that he had no power to go forward and undo what had been done by high provincial authority. But he added that if the people would come 10,000 or more strong and tear out the dams, in the face of such a demonstration of the popular will, they would in all probability not be restored. But it was impossible to raise such a mob, and could it have been done, the relief would have been slight so long as the embankment remained which prevented the water from following the land and flowing north. Farther, it is said that he returned to Peking vid Tientsin, and all his promises were apparently forgotten en route.

So that for more than ten years, this section has been annually flooded, and the autumn crops almost entirely destroyed. This was the exception formerly, now it is the rule. Ordinarily, the greater part of this land can be planted with fall wheat by using a knife-blade drill which drops the grain into a narrow seam, and the wet mud causes it to sprout quickly. But if a shower of rain fills the seams with water, the seed is spoilt, and a second and sometimes a third planting has to be made.

Many of these villagers who possess little or no land 'go out' every winter to live as they can, mainly by begging. They live a gipsy sort of life, often trying to combine bartering and begging. Scarcely a year passes when there is not a 'show' of 'Imperial favour,' but the pittance doled out is only a mere fraction of the amount appropriated. But somehow many of them manage to continue a miserable existence year after year, and always 'show up' just before the wheat harvest.

RAUB MINES.

The Singapore Free Press of the 9th inst. has the following:—

Mr William Bibby, mine manager at Raub, is expected here on Wednesday per S.S. Sappho. Mr Bibby is bringing down 216oz. of gold on this occasion. We understand that the Eastern lode (Telegraph shaft) has not turned out at all what it was hoped it might prove, and has altogether belied the encouraging indications it at first presented. Not feeling justified in going on with the work here the manager has dismantled the shaft in order to utilise the pumps and boilers on another portion of the concession. Speaking of this portion of the mine the writer of this paragraph may be permitted to give now a personal reference to this portion of the mine. During his stay in Pahang in charge of the Raub district during the disturbances frequent occasion was naturally taken to see how the work at the Eastern Lode was progressing as the shaft is at the side of the track between the Raub Police Station (from which it lies about 100 yards distant) and Rotan Tunggul, where Raja Imph's house stands. One Sunday morning after inspecting the hospital, barracks, and Sikh guard of the Police Station, the present writer on his way to Rotan Tunggul stepped at the shaft and had a look at the quartz sent up during the night. There had been heavy rain and the quartz on the top of the heap was fairly clean from the black mullook that usually conceals its surface. So phenomenally rich were the uppermost specimens, that is to say those last sent up the shaft, that the corporal of the guard was promptly directed to place a sentry on duty at the shaft over the quartz until Mr Bibby could be communicated with in order that he might make his own arrangements about watchmen for the quartz. It was of course impossible to tell how much of that splendid quality of stone might not be coming up, and would have paid any passer by handsomely to have walked off with several of the pieces noticed, that morning. This did not continue, however, and it was thought unnecessary to take any special precautions after a couple of days. But the above will show how difficult it is for any one, in such irregular formations as those at Raub, to say how anything may turn out from one day to another.

As regards the new shaft (Raub proper) Mr Bibby has driven is 70 feet, on the higher level and is carrying along with him a leader with good gold. When fairly into the old formation, at a lower level, it will be reasonable to expect results similar to those previously got from this portion of the mine.

The boilers and pump now liberated from the abandoned eastern lode shaft, Mr Bibby intends to transfer to Stope, a place very like the original Raub Hole, and said by those who worked it for Rajah Imph and Raja Ismail to be every bit as good as the Raub Hole, if not better. This place is about half a mile up the concession on the right hand side of the road, and a short distance away in through the jungle. The formation is black slate with rich leaders, and the old open working is at present full of water.

An old Chinese miner, who had worked for Raja Imph at Raub long before the Brown-Sefton era and is now employed at Raub, came up to Mr Bibby one day about the beginning of last September and related how he knew a very good place where there was lots of gold. It was in the jungle and not far away. He had worked there himself and could guide us to the spot. So one morning Messrs. Bibby, Sr. and Jr., with the writer, provided with parangs, &c., proceeded up the concession under the leadership of the Chinese veteran. When nearing the neighbourhood of Stope he began to look about, dived into the jungle once or twice and after some difficulty triumphantly led us to the Stope hole itself! It wasn't much of a discovery, but it amounted to a little corroboration of what was already believed.

THE JURY QUESTION IN INDIA.

Allahabad, December 28.—The Government of India in their despatch on the jury question hold strongly that the Bengal Government was justified in its action. Statistics are quoted to show the perversity of juries particularly in murder cases. Government propose to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure so as to empower Sessions Judges to require from juries special verdicts on particular issues of fact, including the credibility of particular witnesses as well as on the case for prosecution as on the defence. Generally they hold that the classification of offences triable by jury, as now in vogue in parts of the North West Provinces and Oudh, is the most suitable to districts outside the Presidency towns. Under this scheme, murder, culpable homicide and rioting are excluded from the cognisance of juries.

CAPTURE OF DACOITS.
